REVIEWS

"The Gaffigan family loves Mark Shriver's new children's book, 10 Hidden Heroes and the way it highlights gestures of kindness, compassion, generosity and service as the truly heroic acts that they are. Young children will be mesmerized searching for and discovering the real heroes of everyday life among all the beautiful illustrations that reflect our communities populated by recognizable characters from all backgrounds, creeds and colors working together in service to each other to make the world a better place.

At an early age kids will understand that they don't have to look to the skies for a caped super-human. Heroes surround us every day if we learn how to find them and recognize how their actions save lives and make the world a better place. Most importantly, you child will understand that by choosing to love others, they can be a hero too!"

—JEANNIE and JIM GAFFIGAN

"10 Hidden Heroes is not only beautifully illustrated, it's filled with positive life lessons for the whole family to learn, discuss, and share with the world."

—VANNA WHITE, co-host of Wheel of Fortune

"I have always loved the expression If you can see it, you can be it. In that spirit, what could be more impactful than to teach a generation of children (and future heroes) to look for the everyday heroes in every circumstance? 10 Hidden Heroes is a gift for the future."

—KELLY CORRIGAN, author of the New York Times bestseller, Tell Me More

"Everyday heroes are all around us, but too often they are overlooked. 10 Hidden Heroes is fun and inspiring reading. I can't wait for the exciting adventures searching for real-life heroes with my granddaughter!"

— MARIA SHRIVER, author of the New York Times bestseller, I've Been Thinking

"Readers can see for themselves the different ways in which people work with others...An educational, interactive read."

—Publishers Weekly

"An inclusive, visually delightful story that may give youngsters the confidence to be heroes themselves."

—Kirkus Reviews
